

KUSINI

SOUTH HEADLANDS, WATAMU

KUSINI

On the southern headlands of Watamu, where the open sea meets Mida Creek and Whale Island commands the horizon, you'll find Kusini — a luxurious Swahili-style villa set within three acres of oceanfront indigneous forest.

The house comfortably accommodates up to ten adults and two children in six air-conditioned bedrooms. Days are spent by the pool or in the warm, salty ocean in your own secluded cove within Kenya's richest marine national park.

Baby blacktip reef sharks glide through the shallows and flocks of curlew sandpipers and sanderlings fill the sky.

Here, every moment captivates the senses,
invigorates the heart, and nourishes the soul.

KUSINI IS A SANCTUARY FOR DREAMERS, SEEKERS AND SALTWATER SOULS

THREE STOREYS OF SPECTACULAR VIEWS over the pool, terraced garden, pristine coastal forest and onto the endless beauty
of the ocean

Meandering garden
tunnels lead through endemic scrub forest
to ochre-hued cliffs,
the cove and its
magical seashore.

Never still, the forest
is home to birds,
monitor lizards,
hedgehogs, insects,
tiny suni antelope
and cheeky samango
monkeys.

A TREASURE TROVE OF ROCK POOLS
to explore at low tide, and when the tide rises,
the cove transforms into a secluded beach
cocooned by coral formations.

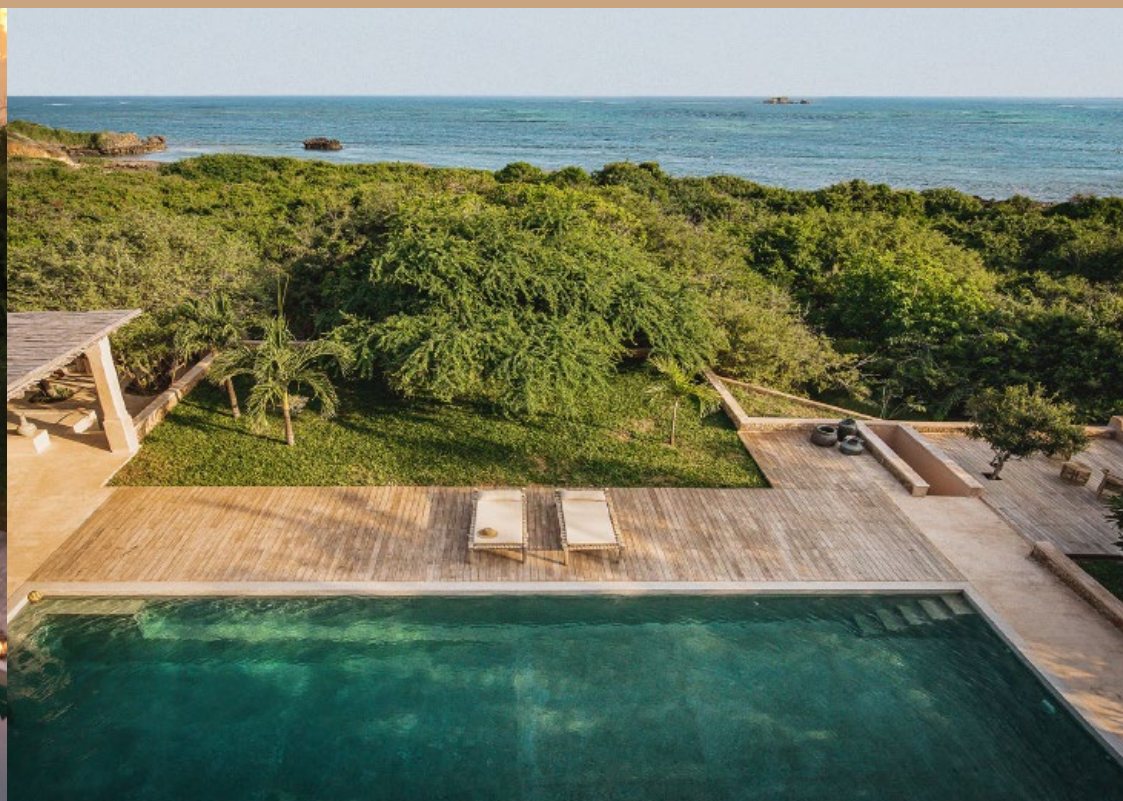

With its shaded baraza seating area, bar and a dining table fit for a sultan, the stylish pool terrace is the ideal location for long leisurely meals and afternoon siestas on Swahili daybeds.

Lorem ipsum

The 50-foot lap pool featuring a child-friendly shallow ledge is shaded in the afternoon. When all is quiet, resident pied kingfishers come to bathe and samango monkeys forage among the branches of the surrounding trees.

The design of the elegant roof terrace is a nod to local Arabic influences. From here, you can spot dolphin in the morning, while in the evening it is the ultimate place for sundowners and bitings as you watch dhows glide gracefully back into the shimmering Mida channel.

THE HOUSE IS CHARACTERISED BY GENEROUS USE OF THE GRACEFUL CURVES TYPICAL OF SWAHILI VERNACULAR

Central to the house is a wind funnel that enhances airflow, bringing a sense of spaciousness and light to every level.

The interiors feature high ceilings and generous windows and doors that frame stunning ocean views. A homely and spacious sitting room offers the perfect retreat for watching a movie or cooling off in the gentle trade winds that drift through the house.

The team of seven staff attending to all your needs includes a private chef whose prawn linguine, ginger crab and seared tuna are just three of his many signature dishes.

WATAMU

Swahili for 'sweet people'

Watamu is a laid-back coastal town that has grown from a traditional fishing village. While its cultural roots are still very much alive and its authentic charm preserved, the town now offers a selection of restaurants, shops, and even padel courts!

Motorbikes or tuk-tuks are the most common modes of transport, but exploring on foot can be equally rewarding. A ten-minute casual stroll from Kusini will take you to 'Short Beach', one of the sweetest spots around. Nearby, there's a sunset bar overhanging the creek.
